

The Sun's Bright Splendor

P. Gerhardt

Die güldne Sonne

J. A. Freylinghausen, J. S. Bach

$\text{♩} = 80$ Cm G Cm Ab Bb Eb Bb Eb

The sun's bright splen - dor pure joy doth ren - der, the earth at morn - ing
My eye sur - vey - eth what God por tray - eth, His love and glo - ry De - cay here reign - eth, but God re - main - eth now and for ev - er.

7 Cm Bbsus4 Bb Bb Eb Ab G Cm

chang - ing, a - dorn - ing, paint - ing a glo - ri - ous, heart - en - ing sight!
to bring be - fore me, show - ing how great is His good - ness and might,
His will and fa - vor up - on a last - ing foun - da - tion is laid.

13 Cm Ab Fm Ebsus4 Eb Ab Eb Ab Cm

No sun - light see - ing, de - pressed was my be - ing, with its en - hanc - ing the and how our sad - ness shall turn in - to glad - ness, when Day - light near - ing, we His grace un - fail - ing ad - mits no cur - tail - ing, it heals our sor - row and

19 Ab Bb Eb Cm Fm Eb Ab G Cm

view, clear, en - tranc - ing, fills all my spir - it with hope and de - light.
greet Christ's ap - pear - ing af - ter earth's tran - sient dis - con - so - late night.
points to the mor - row when we'll know glo - ry that nev - er shall fade.